Course Description

Macroeconomics is the study of the behavior of economic agents such as households, firms and governments, whose collective decisions determine how resources are allocated in a free market economy. The goal of the course is to teach you to "think like an economist," which will help you to understand the world around you. The course presents the economic theory such as opportunity cost, supply, demand, markets, international trade, gross national product, unemployment... nevertheless it will emphasize the application of these concepts to real world situations through in-class discussions of current events, videos, newspapers articles and interactive learning exercises. Those tools will be formulated to better understand and analyze the economic, political, social world surrounding us and to formulate policy implications.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

- Comparative Advantage (specialization and the gains from trade, globalization)
- Macroeconomic Measures (real versus nominal calculations, components and concept of GDP; components and concept of unemployment figures, calculation inflation)

-Macroeconomic Models (circular flow; monetary and fiscal policy; the market for loanable funds & interest rate determination; the demand and supply of money & price level determination)

Assignments and Grading Policy

LearningCurve

LearningCurve: (on LaunchPad) you will complete this activity by answering questions until you reach the target score. The target score differs from one chapter to the other, but your grade will be based on how many points you earn.

Once you reach the target score, you receive full credit (a grade of 100%) for completing the activity.

LearningCurve adapts to your level of knowledge; it is a formative, adaptive learning tool that gives you personalized quiz questions on the topics you need the most help with. You can gain or lose points on each question, depending on how confident you judge yourself to be. Questions get harder as you answer more questions correctly, however harder questions are worth more points.

You can continue to improve your score until the due date.

Top 11 grades are used for your LearningCurve/homework average.

Practice questions for each chapter

The questions following each video clip are for practice purposes and do not count toward your class grade.

The videos have closed captions, because I am a slow learner I always open them!

The practice questions (and answer keys where I go over difficult questions) will allow you to continue practicing possible exam questions even after your homework is due.

Grade:

LearningCurve: you will complete this activity by answering questions until you reach the target score (due Wednesdays and Sundays).
