COURSE DESCRIPTION

English 1A is the first course in SJSU's two-semester lower-division composition sequence; it provides an introduction to baccalaureate-level composition, with attention to the "personal voice" and personal experience, on the one hand, and the more formal attitudes and demands of writing at the university (expository and argumentative essays), on the other. Students will develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. Prerequisites: Placement by the English Proficiency Test (EPT), or passage of an approved substitute course for the EPT.

COURSE GOALS AND STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Students shall achieve the ability to write complete essays that demonstrate college-level proficiency in all of the following:

- Clear and effective communication of meaning.
- An identifiable focus, tailored to a particular audience and purpose (argumentative essays will state their thesis clearly and show implied or stated awareness of some opposing point of view).
- The ability to perform effectively the essential steps of the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing).
- The ability to explain, analyze, develop, and criticize ideas effectively.
- Effective use within their own essays of supporting material drawn from reading or other sources.
- Effective organization within the paragraph and the essay.
- Accuracy, variety, and clarity of sentences.
- Appropriate diction.
- Control of conventional mechanics (e.g., punctuation, spelling, reference, agreement).

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES (SLO):

1: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to perform effectively the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing).

2: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to express (explain, analyze, develop, and criticize) ideas effectively.

3: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to use correct grammar (syntax, mechanics, and citation of sources) at a college level of sophistication.

4: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to write for different audiences.

COURSE GUIDELINES

Writing: In-class exercises and a series of essays will give you practice in prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, editing, and proofreading. A series of in-class and out-of-class essays, including substantive rewrites, will total 8,000 words for the semester. This minimum requirement excludes the final exam, in-class writing exercises, and journals. Out-of-class essays must be typed (Times New Roman, 12).

Reading: Reading is an essential part of learning to write well. Throughout the semester, you will keep a journal to reflect on assigned readings. Prompts will be given before each assignment. Come to class prepared to discuss the readings.

Final Assignment: This course does not have a final exam. Instead, you will write a critical reflection essay at the end of the semester, worth 10% of your grade. In this essay, you will reflect on the progress of your work over the course of the semester. A prompt and rubric will be provided.

GENERAL CLASS POLICIES

Your voice in class discussions makes class interesting, useful, and fun. If you're too shy to speak up, you can participate by listening actively, taking the lead in small group activities, and showing up on time, prepared, and energized. If you miss class, you're still responsible for information, assignments, and deadlines; check the blog, visit my office hours, or follow up with a classmate. Absolutely no cell phones.

WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS

Out-of-class essays: We will be using turnitin.com for assignments. Submissions by hard copy or email will not be accepted unless otherwise instructed. Your Turnitin Class ID is 6747334 and the password is maranhas. An assignment sheet for each essay will be posted on the blog. Failure to follow assignment guidelines will affect grade.

In-class essays: may be made up during office hours if advance notice (24 hours) of absence or a doctor's note is provided. For advance notice less than 24 hours, in-class essays can be made up during office hours and will be penalized by one letter grade.

Late work: Late essays will affect your class performance grade (15%) up to a full letter grade per essay. Any essay that is not submitted within 10 days of the deadline will receive an F. All essays (for a total of 8,000 words) must be submitted to earn a D- or higher in the course. Note: Late Critical Reflection essays (10%) will not be accepted.

Reading journal assignments: must be typed, stored in a two-pocketed folder, and turned in during class. Do not submit late journal assignments by email or at office hours; add them to your folder and they will receive partial credit during the next collection. You may revise or add to previous journals to earn bonus points.

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING POLICY

Grading: This class must be passed with a C or better to move on to CORE GE Area C3 and to satisfy the prerequisite for English 1B. (C- or lower is not acceptable.) A passing grade in the course signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English. Grades in English Department courses reflect the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs. Participation is determined by demonstrated effort (showing up on time, meeting deadlines, adhering to guidelines and course policies).

Final grade will be determined as follows:

Out-of-class essays	50%
In-class essays	20%
Class performance	20%
Journals, quizzes, preparedness, participation
Final Critical Reflection Essay	10%

We will work as a class to determine a grading rubric for each essay. In general:

An “A” essay demonstrates an exceptional understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will be highly organized and fully developed. It is well edited and polished at a sentence level, showing a solid command of style, grammar, mechanics, and usage.

A “B” essay demonstrates a strong understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in an engaging voice. It will be well organized and developed, showing good use of language and overall grasp of grammar, mechanics, and usage.

A “C” essay fully completes the requirements of the assignment and reflects a standard level of college writing. It will have a fair mix of strengths and weaknesses. It may be organized but lack development, or it may be written in an engaging voice but contain numerous errors in grammar, mechanics, and usage that sometimes interfere with clarity.

A “D” essay neglects to meet the requirements of the assignment fully. It lacks organization and adequate development. It contains errors in grammar, mechanics, and usage that obstruct the reader’s understanding.

An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Letter grade to percentage scale

A+	97-100
A	93-96
A-	90-92
B+	87-89
