Faculty Web Page and MYSJSU Messaging

This course syllabus can be accessed on Canvas, or downloaded from my department's website: <http://www.sjsu.edu/english/>. The assignments will be posted in Canvas as well. You are responsible for regularly checking your campus email to learn of any updates or changes to our schedule.

Course Description

As part of your general education, Written Communication I provides an introduction to college-level composition, with attention to the "personal voice" and personal experience, on the one hand, and the more formal attitudes and demands of writing at the university (expository and argumentative essays), on the other. Students will develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. In the yearlong sequence you will also be introduced to citation and quotation. A passing grade of C or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

The Stretch English course in which you have enrolled "stretches" the Written Communication I curriculum from one to two semesters, to allow us more time to hone your reading and writing skills, so that you are ready to transfer those skills to the writing you will do in your other courses here at SJSU.

This semester you are enrolled in HA 96F, and next term you will enroll in HA 96S with me as your instructor once again. If we each do our jobs diligently and you each complete all the work for fall and show measurable progress, everyone in this classroom today will return in the spring to complete the Stretch English course of study. Thus, you and your peers will be writing colleagues for a full year.

A Note About the Spring Prerequisite and Your Advancement from Fall to Spring: Credit in Stretch I is a prerequisite for Stretch II. If you do not earn credit in HA 96F, you will not be enrolled in HA 96S in the spring.

If your EPT score is 147 or above and you earn No Credit in fall, you will enroll in English 1A in the spring to complete your Area A2 requirement in one semester.

If your EPT score is 146 or below and you earn No Credit in the fall, you will enroll in LLD 2 in the spring (to clear remediation) and in English 1A in the following fall (to earn A2 credit with a C or better as your final grade).

Section Description: The Theme of Our Inquiry into Language as a Democratic Tool

"The basis of our governments being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."--Thomas Jefferson

Americans read the stories of daily lives every day in the pages of newspapers and journals. The stories of the conflicts in the Middle East, of debates about immigration laws, of floods and fires and extreme storms, of ecological disasters and political triumphs. These are the stories of our neighbors and neighborhoods, of our fellow citizens and our country, of our global brothers and sisters and our global community. These stories are our history in the making, and they are part of the fabric of democracy as our founding fathers imagined it: we read these stories so that we can make informed decisions about the actions we take together in our neighborhood, our county, our state, our nation.

How is our story, our history evolving, and how are we each, individually, implicated in it? How are the day-to-day events that we read about in the news more than current events—how can we understand them as current trends, issues and problems that involve us and shape who we are, how we are, today, and who and how we might be tomorrow? How can we engage language to learn that history, to shape it and communicate it, to use it to direct our readers' thoughts and actions as citizens of a shared world?

Learning Outcomes and Course Content

The following learning outcomes and course contents are defined by General Education Area A2 guidelines, to ensure that this course meets Written Communication I outcomes.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically
2. demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance
3. articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals
4. demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres
5. demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing

Course Content

SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. General education guidelines for Written Communication I stipulate that issues of diversity shall be incorporated in an appropriate manner. Thus, among the readings and assignments for this course you will find and engage a full range of voices in our democratic conversation as it is developed in newspapers and journals.

The writing assignments you encounter in this course will give you repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. As you see in the table, the assignments require a minimum of 8000 words, at least 4000 of which are in revised final draft form. Because in-class writing is valued and because you will need to be able to perform well in timed writing situations, five of your essays will be written in class. The table below explains exactly how the 8000-word minimum will be met and distributed in our course.

Assignment	Word Count/Assignment	Total Words	Type of Assignment	GE Learning Objective
Critical reading/reflection	Essay 1: 500 words	1850	in-class writing	GELO 1, 2, 3,4, 5
	Essay 2: 600 words
	Essay 3: 750 words
Data-driven analyses	Personal Essay 1000 words	2850	out of class writing	GELO 2, 3, 5
	Interview Essay 850 words
	Ethnographic Essay 1000 words
Major Essays	Letter/Editor 750 words	3000	out of class writing	GELO 2, 3, 4, 5
	Profile Essay 1000 words
	Critical Essay 1250 words
Portfolio/self-reflection essays	Midterm 750 words	1500	in-class writing	GELO 1, 2, 3, 4, 5
	Final 750 words

Reading is an integral part of writing. It is an integral part of democracy, too. That is why Thomas Jefferson advocated public education to a new democratic nation: to act collectively for the common good, we must be trained to read effectively so that we might understand positions of those citizens removed from us across the expanse of the nation we inhabit together.

Reading for the course is both extensive and intensive. It includes useful models of writing for academic, general, and special audiences. You will read stories daily in The New York Times and read the forums on current events in The Boston Review. You will also read the campus reading selection for this term: Sonya Sotomayor's memoir, My Beloved World. These texts you will read to learn, to reflect, and to respond. They will also serve as writing samples for study and models for imitation.

To help you connect your reading to the writing you do, you will also purchase and use a dictionary, a rhetoric, a sentence development text, and the campus handbook. In these books you will engage reading to learn and practice writing skills.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of this coursework, you will be able to:

Read to learn:

- annotate a reading selection to develop a summary and response in your writing (GELO1);
- identify audience and purpose in texts from several genres (GELO 1,3,4);
- explain how genres work to serve audience and context (GELO 1, 3).

Read to write:

- identify rhetorical appeals and devise strategies for an effective appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- develop a text to effectively appeal to a specific audience (GELO 1, 3);
- identify the choices a writer has made to produce a text (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use readings as models for your own writing strategies (GELO 1, 4);
- concisely, accurately explain and critique information and ideas from your reading (GELO 1, 3, 4);
- use information gleaned from your reading as evidence in your text and cite that information (GELO 1, 4);
- use quotation and summary to create context for your writing (GELO 1, 4, 5).

Write with an increased awareness of the process

- discuss specific strategies for prewriting and revision that have worked for you (GELO 2);
- repurpose acquired skills and information to tackle new writing problems (GELO 2).

Read and write with an increased awareness of the language you use:

- identify new grammatical forms and imitate them (GELO 1, 2, 3, 4, 5);
- analyze and discuss the structure of sentences and the grammatical choices you make (GELO 2, 3, 5);

- identify editing problems in your own writing (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective strategies for editing your work (GELO 2, 5);
- identify and apply effective proofreading strategies (GELO 2, 5);
- reflect on and assess your own writing, process and product, to support continued language and writing development (GELO 2, 3, 4).

Required Texts/Readings

The texts listed on this syllabus are all required for this course. You will need to bring your texts to class regularly, starting this week.

Textbooks

The following textbooks can be purchased at the Spartan Bookstore or from an online vendor. If you are ordering online, be sure to use the ISBN number listed to be sure to get the appropriate edition and format.

Ballenger, Bruce. The Curious Writer. 4th edition. ISBN-13: 978-0-205-23577-3

Bacon, Nora. The Well-Crafted Sentence (A Writer's Guide to Style). ISBN: 978-1-4576-3910-4

Lunsford, Andrea. The Everyday Writer (x-book w/Learning Curve) (You should receive an email with a free download of this x-book.)

Sonia Sotomayor, My Beloved World (You should have received a copy of this text for free from the campus reading program. If you did not, see me. You should not purchase this book until you see me.)

Other Readings

You will also subscribe to both The New York Times and The Boston Review.

You will purchase a digital version of The New York Times for the full year ($1.88 per week), with a special discount for the first seven weeks. This digital version will allow you to keep a personal archive of stories you are following for your writing assignments in this course. Use the following link to access the educational subscription page:

<http://homedelivery.nytimes.com/HDS/CMHome.do?mode=CMHome&CampaignCode=393W8>

You will purchase a 6-month subscription ($20.00) of The Boston Review starting in December; we will be following the forum section of this publication to explore expert debates on current issues. I will give you the subscription link in November.

Other Equipment and Materials

You will need access to a digital device or computer to access your subscriptions and to complete writing assignments.

Library Liaison

Over the course of our inquiry into the role of language in democracy, you may find you need to hunt down information about the story you are pursuing. Some of that hunting may take you into our library—a new system that you will need to learn as you go. Toby Matoush is the library liaison for English and Comparative Literature and for Languages. She is a valuable resource to you as you learn the new library.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed with the expectation that, to be successful, students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week). These hours of study will include preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and participating in assessment activities. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

The fall writing assignments include: A benchmark essay and 2 critical reading and reflection essays, written in class; a personal essay; a letter to the editor; a self-reflection essay (written in class).

The spring writing assignments include: An interview essay, a profile essay, a critical/reflection essay (written in class), an ethnographic essay, a critical essay, and a self-reflection essay (written in class).

You will upload your writing files to our Canvas course so that I can use electronic copies for workshops I prepare in PowerPoint. But you will submit all writing to be graded in hardcopy (paper) as well, so that I can mark the paper and grade it.

Distributed over two semesters of study, the assignments you complete are designed to build your reading, thinking and writing skills across genres that address different audiences and purposes. All writing assignments must be completed—all daily writing, all drafts, all formal essays (in class and out of class). You will not be able to earn credit (at the midyear review) or to earn the required C (to clear remediation and earn graduation credit for the course) if you have not completed all writing assignments.

Because it is important that you be able to articulate the learning you achieve through these assignments, in both fall and spring you will also turn in a portfolio of writing assignments, along with an essay that reflects on your progress toward achieving the course learning objectives.

Midyear Portfolio Review

At the end of the fall term you will submit a portfolio for Stretch instructors to review. This portfolio will contain two essays from your fall coursework: the first critical reading/reflection essay and the first major essay (the essay for a public forum). You will also submit a reflection on these two essays, written in class, comparing them to assess your progress toward the learning objectives for the first half of the course. Stretch faculty members will review this portfolio as part of our midyear assessment.

Final Portfolio Review

The last essay you write will also be a self-reflection essay; it will be the presentation piece in your final portfolio. This portfolio is your culminating exercise in this class. It will contain the reflection essay as well as the samples you have chosen from your writing (over the full 30 weeks of instruction): prewriting, drafts, and revisions. Your portfolio will be assessed by two Stretch faculty members, using a common scoring guide that I will make available to you as you prepare your portfolio, and that you will use as you review your peers' portfolios during our portfolio workshop.

A Note on Your Workload in This Course

This course work is designed to help all the students in Stretch English meet the learning objectives for GE Area A2. While all students will complete these same assignments, the course design does not and cannot account for individual needs of each student. So there may be added work you need to do, to integrate the reading, thinking, and writing skills that this instruction introduces you to. You may need extra hours for tutoring; you may take longer to read texts so that you can look up words you find unfamiliar; you may need more time for editing. Your goal in this class is to learn what you need as a writer in order to develop your skills as a writer—and to get what you need. That will take commitment, of your time and your attention, to the work of this class; that will take commitment to seek out the support and resources you need, both in class and out of class. Be sure to factor into your study plan for this semester, the time and attention you need to develop your writing skills.

A Note on Participation

Participation will be measured by points earned on daily writing activities and oral presentations. Students who earn 100 to 90% of the total points available for these activities will earn an A (+ or -). Students who earn 89-80% will earn a B (+ or -); 79 to 70%, a C (+ or -), etc. Participation will count as 15% of your total grade for the yearlong course.

Note also that University policy F69-24 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F69-24.pdf> states: “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class. Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading.”

Grading System to Determine Course Grades

Fall 2014: Grades in the fall are based on measured progress toward proficiency in the learning objectives outlined above. To earn credit in the course, you will need to have completed all of the assigned work, and you will need to demonstrate measurable progress in at least 75% of the SLOs to earn credit (CR) in HA96F.

Item	% of Course Grade	Word Count*	Type of Assignment
Critical Reading/Reflection 1	5%	500	in-class
Personal Essay	5%	1000	out of class
Letter to the Editor	7.5%	750	out of class
Critical Reading/Reflection 2	5%	600	in-class
Self-Reflection/Midyear Portfolio	7.5%	750	in-class
Participation	10%	N/A	N/A

Spring 2015: A final grade of C or better in HA 96S is needed to clear remediation and satisfy GE Area A2.

Item	% of Course Grade	Word Count*	Type of Assignment
Interview Essay	5%	850	out of class
Profile Essay	10%	1000	out of class
Ethnographic Essay	7.5%	1000	out of class
Critical Reading/Reflection 3	7.5%	750	in-class
Critical Essay	15%	1250	out of class
Self-Reflection/Final Portfolio	10%	750	in-class
Participation	5%	N/A	in-class

Word Count/ Fall and Spring: 9200

Grading System for Individual Assignments

For each assignment, you will be given a scoring guide that details how the assignment will be evaluated and scored. Typically, the assignment will be evaluated both as a process completed and as a product of that process. Because we have “stretched” the Written Communication I curriculum to a year, each assignment is the result of weeks of work you will have completed both in class and out of class: when you submit your work for my evaluation, you will account for the learning you have achieved through this process. We will both assess as well how effectively your finished writing is achieving the goals outlined for the course; this part of the grading will detail how effectively you are performing the skills that you are learning and practicing in the class. Your grade on an assignment will measure your progress and achievement so that you can manage your learning through the full thirty weeks of instruction.

The following description of papers by grade will give you a very general sense of the standards that Written Communication I sets for “college-level” writing competency. By the end of the year, your performance needs to reach a “C,” to earn GE credit in Area A2.

The following are the criteria by which essays are typically evaluated in first-year writing courses:

An “A” essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage. A passing grade of C or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level reader and writer of English.

A “B” essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.

A “C” essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice. Nonetheless, a C signifies that the performance demonstrates college-level writing and reading.

A “D” essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.

An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Grading Practices and Policies

Course Grade Calculations

Course grades are based on the grades you earn on the work you produce; note that these grades are not averaged but weighted to determine the final grade. In weighting letter grades, an A+ will be valued at 12, an A at 11, an A- at 10, a B+ at 9, etc. So an A+ on the Interview Essay assignment, for instance, will be calculated as $12 \times .5$ of the course grade in HA 96S.

Grading: Course Grading for Area A2 and for Stretch Composition includes a range from A to F.

To satisfy your CORE GE Area A2 and clear remediation (if necessary), and to move on to CORE GE Area A3, you must pass this course in the spring (HA 96S) with a C or better. A passing grade in the course signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

That said, the first semester of this course, HA 96F is graded CR/NC. To receive credit a student must earn a C, which will signify that the student has completed all coursework and demonstrated significant, measurable progress throughout the semester.

Clearing Remediation

Students who enter stretch composition with an EPT score below 147 must clear remediation within a year of their enrollment as freshman at SJSU. Students who pass the spring term of Stretch English, HA 96S, with a C or better will both earn their GE A2 credit and clear remediation.

Earning Credit for GE Area A2

To satisfy your CSU graduation requirement, you must earn a C or better in HA 96S.

Resources for Stretch Composition Students

Part of becoming a successful writer is learning how and when to seek the support you need. There is a tutorial designed specifically for students in Stretch English, but there are also lots of other support services on campus you may find useful as you develop your writing over the next several years at SJSU.

LLD 4: Writing Support for Stretch English Students

Students whose EPT scores are below 138 may enroll in a supplemental tutorial: LLD 4, which offers you two hours of tutorial instruction per week and in which you will earn one non-baccalaureate unit of credit. You may, if you choose, opt out of that tutorial. But you should wait to make a final decision about this until after the benchmark essay.

In LLD 4, you will meet with your tutor, working in small groups or in one-on-one sessions to practice reading activities and writing activities that support the learning you are engaged in through the classroom sessions. You will sign up for this lab under a separate course code.

If your EPT score is above 138, but you know that you have often needed tutorial guidance to improve your writing in the past, you may elect to take the tutorial as well.

In the second class session, you will write a benchmark essay. After evaluating those essays and conferring with you about them, I may recommend that you sign up for the tutorial. You will be able to add the 1-unit course through the add period. You must add the tutorial by September 12.

Classroom Protocol

The template for SJSU syllabuses asks instructors to explain to students the specific behaviors appropriate to the classroom. I find this request somewhat puzzling: Adults already know how to behave, and you are an adult. But here are some truisms about behavior that an adult student will know:

- You should come to class every day prepared to participate.
- Attendance is its own reward and, therefore, need not be commanded.
- Attention is its own reward and, therefore, need not be commanded.
- Tardiness is an obscenity, and can only be overlooked with great pain from those affronted with it.
- You should practice safety, so that others do not have to think about how to keep you safe. (Be assured, the University has in place protocols about emergency procedures and faculty and students are drilled in them regularly, to the accompaniment of truly horrific wailing—from the alarms, not those alarmed by them.)
- Cell phones are an abomination of modern campus life and ought to be gutted—or at least silenced before class starts. (Okay, this one may not be a truism—more of a strongly held opinion, my opinion.) You may not use a phone in class, as a phone. That said, you may use a “device”—a phone, a tablet, a notebook, a computer—only to access online texts during class.

My Professional Policies

I have developed these policies over the last thirty-three years of teaching composition. They are intended to ensure the smooth operation of the class and to encourage a professional working environment congenial to all.

- Office hours are yours: you paid for them; use them. University professors expect students to seek out what they need as they take charge of their own learning outcomes. We make ourselves available during office hours to provide students access to our time as a key resource in their studies.
- I do not accept late work. Deadlines are to be honored.
- I cannot accept papers via email. Nor is email a suitable vehicle for student-teacher conferencing. Please, use email to schedule appointments or to advise me of an absence. I will use email to update you on schedule changes or to advise you of my absence.
- Please, to conserve paper, type all papers single-spaced. (Note that this is a required modification of MLA form for this class specifically. Don't try this in your other classes without clearing it with your professor first.)
- I reserve the right to publish your work to the class as part of our workshop activities.
- If you need to record class sessions, you must advise me in writing so that I may seek permission from the class for such a recording. I will need to know what will be recorded, when, how and why, as well as how the recordings will be stored and used. No recordings of the class may be uploaded or shared electronically without written consent from me. (See the University policy on recording below.)

- Work completed in class cannot be made up. This includes all discussions, activities, and workshops. Workshops are an essential part of the writer’s working experience. Your participation in workshops is mandatory. These workshops are conducted in class: You must bring to workshops 3 typewritten copies of your completed draft, and you must turn in to me the 3 workshop copies as well as the final, revised draft of the essay. (Only with documented reason and prior approval will I allow you to complete workshops with your group via email.)
- In-class essays can be made up only with a doctor’s note or other documentation of a serious and compelling reason for the absence on that day. I will expect an email advising me of the absence and requesting the makeup.

University Policies

There are several university policies that all SJSU instructors are asked to include in each syllabus we produce. This procedure creates redundancy as you will read several syllabi in a term, all containing this same information. That redundancy is actually significant repetition: it signals to you the importance of these policies. Please read them carefully, get to know them, use them to guide your studies here at SJSU—and be prepared to reread this information every semester, looking for updates!

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at <http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html>. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at <http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/>. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes. Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at <http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/>.

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf>, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:

- “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”
 - It is suggested that the greensheet include the instructor’s process for granting permission, whether in writing or orally and whether for the whole semester or on a class by class basis.
 - In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.
- “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

Academic Integrity

Your commitment, as a student, to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University Academic Integrity Policy S07-2 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S07-2.pdf> requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at <http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/>.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 at http://www.sjsu.edu/president/docs/directives/PD_1997-03.pdf requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) at <http://www.sjsu.edu/aec> to establish a record of their disability.

Accommodation to Students' Religious Holidays

San José State University shall provide accommodation on any graded class work or activities for students wishing to observe religious holidays when such observances require students to be absent from class. It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed. See University Policy S14-7 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S14-7.pdf>.

Campus Resources for Students

The University provides resources to help students achieve their academic goals. You pay for these resources with your fees, so please use them to get the help you need in developing your writing skills at SJSU.

Student Technology Resources

Computer labs for student use are available in the Academic Success Center at <http://www.sjsu.edu/at/asc/> located on the 1st floor of Clark Hall and in the Associated Students Lab on the 2nd floor of the Student Union. Additional computer labs may be available in your department/college. Computers are also available in the Martin Luther King Library. A wide variety of audio-visual equipment is available for student checkout from Media Services located in IRC 112. These items include DV and HD digital camcorders; digital still cameras; video, slide and overhead projectors; DVD, CD, and audiotape players; sound systems, wireless microphones, projection screens and monitors.

SJSU Peer Connections

Peer Connections, a campus-wide resource for mentoring and tutoring, strives to inspire students to develop their potential as independent learners while they learn to successfully navigate through their university experience. You are encouraged to take advantage of their services which include course-content based tutoring, enhanced study and time management skills, more effective critical thinking strategies, decision making and problem-solving abilities, and campus resource referrals.

In addition to offering small group, individual, and drop-in tutoring for a number of undergraduate courses, consultation with mentors is available on a drop-in or by appointment basis. Workshops are offered on a wide variety of topics including preparing for the Writing Skills Test (WST), improving your learning and memory, alleviating procrastination, surviving your first semester at SJSU, and other related topics. A computer lab and study space are also available for student use in Room 600 of Student Services Center (SSC).

Peer Connections is located in three locations: SSC, Room 600 (10th Street Garage on the corner of 10th and San Fernando Street), at the 1st floor entrance of Clark Hall, and in the Living Learning Center (LLC) in Campus Village Housing Building B.
