ENGL 1A Course Description

Jack Kerouac described California as “the land of lonely and exiled and eccentric lovers come to forgather like birds...where everybody somehow looked like broken-down, handsome, decadent movie actors” while the Red Hot Chili Peppers contend that “it's the edge of the world and all of western civilization.” From its golden exterior to its dark underbelly, California has evidentially left an indelible mark on the American psyche—but what does it really mean to be Californian? Is there such a thing as a California identity? And, if so, what role do we, as Californians, play in the larger national and global communities? How is this role distinct or uniquely valuable as a result of our being Californians? From N.W.A to Raymond Chandler, we will examine throughout the semester the multitudinous voices that shape our notions of the Californian identity and the Californian experience. By learning to critically read these varying narratives of California and to respond to them through the production of our own writing that looks both inward at ourselves and outward at our community, we will increase our awareness of our role as vital, participatory citizens of our nation and the world. Finally, we will investigate California’s future sustainability in the wake of one of the worst droughts in our history. Drawing upon the lavish, eccentric, sordid and profoundly multicultural history of our state, this 1A course will focus on the California consciousness, its creative spirit, its environmental sustainability and the Californication of the global community. English 1A is an introductory writing course that will help students understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, students will develop clear thinking and effective writing that give form and coherence to complex ideas. Students will practice these skills by writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations.

ENGL 1A Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to

- communicate meaning clearly and effectively;
- identify focus, tailored to a particular audience and purpose;
- perform effectively the essential steps of the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing);
- explain, analyze, develop, and criticize ideas effectively;
- use within an essay supporting material drawn from primary and secondary sources, including appropriate citations;
- organize individual paragraphs and entire essays;
- construct sentences with accuracy, variety, and clarity;
- use appropriate diction and tone;
- control conventions of written English (e.g., punctuation, spelling, reference, agreement).

GE Area A2 Course Description

ENGL 1A fulfills the written communication general education requirement. Courses in GE Area A2 cultivate an understanding of the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication, with special attention to the nature of writing in the university. Students will develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. A passing grade of C or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

GE A2 Learning Outcomes (GELO)

In addition to the learning objectives stated above, ENGL 1A also measures the learning goals of GE Area A2. Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to

- demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically;
- demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance;
- articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals;
- demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres;
- demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.

ENGL 1A Course Content

Diversity: SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. Students will engage in integrated reading and writing assignments to construct their own arguments on complex issues that generate meaningful public debate. Readings for the course will include writers of different genders and from different socio-economic classes. Moreover, in order for the classroom to function as a safe environment in which open communication amongst all students occurs daily, all class discussions and debates will be conducted with respect for the races, ethnicities, genders, and socio-economic classes of all students kept in mind.

Reading: In English 1A, students will learn how to analyze and respond to various texts, so close, interactive, and consistent reading is imperative. All assigned readings will be selections from the Course Reader, chapters from the composition book, Writing Situations, and various other poems, song lyrics, articles, essays, and excerpts from longer works which will be available on Canvas. Please come to each class having completed all of the day's assigned readings. Note-taking and annotating your readings are always encouraged. Additionally, please frequently refer to your free copy of the style and grammar handbook, The Everyday Writer, accessible on Canvas.

ENGL 1A Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

Writing: Writing assignments shall give students repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. This class requires a minimum of 8000 words, at least 4000 of which must be in revised final draft form. Because in-class writing is valued and students should be able to perform well in timed writing situations, at least two essays shall be written in class. In addition, ENGL 1A classes require multiple out-of-class essays.

Out-of-Class Essays (GELOs 1-5): There will be three major out-of-class essays in which students will analyze and respond to the topics and readings we cover in class. Students will submit rough drafts of each, for which they will receive teacher feedback as well as additional feedback from their peers during in-class peer editing workshops. To encourage exploration of the various and vital stages of the writing process, all draft submissions and participation in peer editing workshops are mandatory and count for part of your final grade for the assignment. All essays must be typed in 12-point Times New Roman font, double-spaced, with 1-inch margins, and meet MLA formatting guidelines. See The Everyday Writer or the OWL guide (<https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/01/>) for help.

In-Class Essays (GELOs 2-5): There will be three, 500-word, in-class essays: a diagnostic essay for which you will not be graded, and two others for which you will be graded. You will be given a specific prompt that addresses readings and topics we have covered in class and you will have the entire class period to write (punctuality is especially important on in-class essay days so that you will neither lose valuable writing time nor distract your peers as they work). Essays must be hand-written in blue or black ink in a greenbook, which are available at the campus bookstore and various other locations on campus. Please notify me and provide formal documentation from the Accessible Education Center (AEC) if you need accommodations for the in-class essays. If you know in advance that you will be absent on the day of an in-class essay, please notify me ahead of time to make necessary arrangements.

Online Weekly Writing Responses (GELOs 1, 2, 4, 5): Once a week (usually before Wednesday classes), you will post a response on Canvas to a discussion I will start regarding the readings or topics we’ve discussed for the week. You are welcome to post a response discussing your own thoughts on the matter, or something responding to a post one of your peers has written. Each response should be about 200-250 words and must be submitted before the beginning of class on the day it is listed as due on the course schedule for that week. However, you are encouraged to post your responses well in advance of class to give your peers—and me—adequate time to read your responses before our in-class discussion.

Final (GELOs 1-5): The final for the course will be a reflective, 500-word, in-class essay prompting students to look back at the semester to discover the changes their attitudes and opinions have undergone as a result of their experience in English 1A. Just like the other three in class essays, the final must be hand-written in blue or black ink in a greenbook.

Other Informal In-Class Writings: On most days, you will also be asked to complete short, informal writings during class. These may take the form of warm-ups, brainstorming, outlines, free-writes, reading responses, etc., and may be shared with the class as part of our discussion for the day. The effort you put into these writings will directly impact your participation grade for the course.

Grading Policy

Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper’s effectiveness, which is broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression. All assignments, quizzes, and exams are graded on a traditional A-F scale. Students must receive a course grade of a C or better to pass English 1A.

The following are the criteria by which essays are typically evaluated in first-year writing courses: An “A” essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.

A “B” essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.

A “C” essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice.

A “D” essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.

An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Assignment Grading Breakdown:

Assignment	Total Point Value	Percentage of Course Grade
3 Out-of-Class Essays (150 pts. each)	450	45%
2 In-Class Essays (100 pts. each)	200	20%
1 In-Class Final (100 pts.)	100	10%
10 Online Weekly Writing Responses (15 pts. each)	150	15%
Participation for the Semester	100	10%

Assignment submissions: Each major out-of-class essay will be submitted as a hard copy in class and electronically on Canvas by the beginning of class on the scheduled due date. All writing responses will be submitted on Canvas by the beginning of class on each day listed on the course schedule.

Extra credit: There are plenty of assignments, activities, and outside help available in order for you to gain the required number of points to excel in the course. As such, I will not offer extra credit.

Late work: Late out-of-class essays will be accepted up to one week after the due date. For each calendar day the assignment is late, half a letter grade will be deducted from the final grade. I will not accept submissions via email. After one week has passed, the assignment will no longer be accepted. For missed in-class essays you have one week to make up your essay during a scheduled appointment with me. If you know in advance of an absence which will prevent you from submitting a hard copy of an assignment or taking an in-class essay, please notify me ahead of time to make necessary arrangements. Points for missed online reading responses, informal in-class writings, and participation may not be made up.

Course grades will be calculated using the following scale:

A (93-100%)=930-1,000pts	B- (80-82%)=800-829pts	D+ (67-69%)=670-699pts
A- (90-92%)=900-929pts	C+ (77-79%)=770-799pts	D (63-66%)=630-669pts
B+ (87-89%)=870-899pts	C (73-76%)=730-769pts	D- (60-62%)=600-629pts
B (83-86%)=830-869pts	C- (70-72%)=700-729pts	F (0-59%)=0-599pts

Classroom Protocol

In class daily: Come to class on time, prepared to work and to contribute every single day. Bring your Course Reader, Writing Situations, writing implements, and any assignments due to each class meeting. If you have not completed the assigned readings or writings for the day, do not come to class, as you will not be prepared to contribute to the learning environment.

Use of electronics: Cell phones visible on desks only pose a distraction to you and your fellow classmates. Keep cell phones on vibrate or silent and out of sight in your bag. As English 1A is an interactive, discussion-heavy class, there is also little to no need for computers in class. Lap tops will not be permitted in the classroom unless otherwise specified beforehand (they may be necessary for certain in-class activities periodically throughout the semester). If you require a lap top or another electronic device due to a disability, you must have formal documentation from the Accessible Education Center (AEC) on campus in order for accommodations to be made.

Late/Absence policy: Although you will not be penalized for tardiness, you will be graded for your participation in class each day. Habitual tardiness will undoubtedly impact your contribution to the class negatively and hinder the experience of your classmates as well. If you know in advance that you will be late for class, will have to leave class early, or will have to miss class altogether, please notify me via email as soon as possible. Do not email me following an absence to ask about what you missed in class; contact a classmate first and then see me only if you missed a handout distributed or work returned in class.

Office hours: If you need help, clarification, questions answered, or additional guidance on an assignment, I strongly encourage you to attend my weekly office hours immediately after class on Mondays and Wednesdays. I am on campus four days a week, so I am always available for scheduled appointments on Tuesdays and Thursdays as well. If you schedule an appointment during a time outside of my regular office hours and need to cancel or reschedule, please notify me ahead of time.

University Policies

General Expectations, Rights and Responsibilities of the Student

As members of the academic community, students accept both the rights and responsibilities incumbent upon all members of the institution. Students are encouraged to familiarize themselves with SJSU's policies and practices pertaining to the procedures to follow if and when questions or concerns about a class arises. See University Policy S90-5 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S90-5.pdf>. More detailed information on a variety of related topics is available in the SJSU catalog, at <http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/catalog/rec-12234.12506.html>. In general, it is recommended that students begin by seeking clarification or discussing concerns with their instructor. If such conversation is not possible, or if it does not serve to address the issue, it is recommended that the student contact the Department Chair as a next step.

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester's Catalog Policies section at <http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html>. University Policy S12-7, <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf>, requires students to obtain instructor's permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:

- “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor's permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”
 - It is suggested that the greensheet include the instructor's process for granting permission, whether in writing or orally and whether for the whole semester or on a class by class basis.
 - In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well.
- “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

Accommodation to Students' Religious Holidays

San José State University shall provide accommodation on any graded class work or activities for students wishing to observe religious holidays when such observances require students to be absent from class. It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed.
