ENGL 1A Course Description

General: English 1 is an introductory writing course that will help you understand the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication. Through interpretation and analysis of texts, you will develop clear thinking and effective writing that give form and coherence to complex ideas. In English 1A you will practice these skills by writing for various audiences and rhetorical situations.

Section 40: “The Power of the Personal: Finding Your Voice in a Hyper-Connected World.” Closely linked to literacy—the ability to read and write—is “voice,” or how you speak on paper. As the age of the page increasingly gives way to screens and multi-media forms of communication, such technologies as well as increasing globalization place greater demands on the traditional writer and the concept of effective voice. Are you ready to meet these challenges? What is effective writing today? Can the individual have an impact in a global society? How can you keep up? In this section you will develop effective writing and voice through creative process strategies, support an issue of local sustainability, and locate your voice within a global context.

ENGL 1A Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to:

- communicate meaning clearly and effectively.
- identify focus, tailored to a particular audience and purpose.
- perform effectively the essential steps of the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing).
- explain, analyze, develop, and criticize ideas effectively.
- use within your own essay supporting material drawn from primary and secondary sources, including appropriate citations.
- organize individual paragraphs and entire essays.
- construct sentences with accuracy, variety, and clarity.
- use appropriate diction and tone.
- control conventions of written English (e.g., punctuation, spelling, reference, agreement).

GE A2 Course Description

ENGL 1A fulfills your written communication general education requirement. Courses in GE Area 2 cultivate an understanding of the writing process and the goals, dynamics, and genres of written communication, with special attention to the nature of writing at the university. Students will develop college-level reading abilities, rhetorical sophistication, and writing styles that give form and coherence to complex ideas and feelings. A passing grade of C- or better signifies that the student is a capable college-level writer and reader of English.

GE A2 Learning Objectives (GELO)

In addition to the learning objectives stated above, ENGL 1A also measures the learning goals of GE Area A2. Upon successful completion of the course, you will be able to

- demonstrate the ability to read actively and rhetorically.
- demonstrate the ability to perform the essential steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, composing, revising, and editing) and demonstrate an awareness of said performance.
- articulate an awareness of and write according to the rhetorical features of texts, such as purpose, audience, context, and rhetorical appeals.
- demonstrate the ability to integrate their ideas and those of others by explaining, analyzing, developing, and criticizing ideas effectively in several genres.
- demonstrate college-level language use, clarity, and grammatical proficiency in writing.

ENGL 1A Course Content

Diversity: SJSU studies include an emphasis on diversity. You will engage in integrated reading and writing assignments to construct your own arguments on complex issues that generate meaningful public debate. Readings for the course will include writers of different genders and from different socio-economic classes.

Writing: Writing assignments shall give students repeated practice in all phases of the writing process: prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. This class requires a minimum of 8000 words, at least 4000 of which must be in revised final draft form. Because in-class writing is valued and students should be able to perform well in timed writing situations, at least two essays shall be written in class. In addition, ENGL 1A classes require multiple out-of-class essays.

You will receive frequent evaluations of your writing from the instructor. Evaluative comments will be substantive, addressing both the logic of the argument and the quality and form of the writing. Comments will encourage and acknowledge your success as well as note problems and suggest ways to improve.

Reading: In addition to being writing intensive, ENGL 1A is also a reading course. You will read a variety of rhetorical and professional works on considered topics. All readings will include useful models of writing for academic, general, and specific audiences.

Final Exam: As part of your final experience in the course, you will create a multimodal “pecha-kucha” style to present to the class on the date of the final. Projects will be related to the primary issues discussed in the course.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, students are expected to spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

Assignment descriptions will be distributed for each major assignment. We will also discuss each assignment throughout the semester. Assignments will cover informal and formal writing.

Grading Policy

All work must be submitted on time. Any unexcused late work will be graded down a full letter grade for every day it is late. If there is a reason you cannot make a deadline, contact me BEFORE THE DEADLINE. You must turn in all assignments to pass the class, even though assignments turned in more than 2 days after the due date will earn a "0".

Grading: A-F. Note: Students must earn a C- or better to pass this class.

Letter Grade	Grade Scale
A	4.0
A-	3.7
B+	3.3
B	3.0

Requirements for particular assignments will vary, but in all cases essay grades will reflect the paper’s effectiveness, which is broken down into three major areas: content (this includes maturity and sophistication of thought), organization, and expression. The following are the criteria by which essays are typically evaluated in first-year writing courses:

An “A” essay is organized and well-developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment, written in a unique and compelling voice. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively with a solid command of grammar, mechanics, and usage.

A “B” essay demonstrates competence in the same categories as an “A” essay, but it may show slight weakness in one of these areas. It will respond to the topic suitably and may contain some grammatical, mechanical or usage errors.

A “C” essay will complete the requirements of the assignment, but it will show weaknesses in fundamentals, such as development. It may show weakness in mastery of grammar, mechanics, usage, or voice.

A “D” essay will neglect to meet all the requirements of the assignment or may be superficial in its treatment of the topic. It may lack development or fail to stay on topic. It may contain grammatical, mechanical, and/or usage errors that interfere with reader comprehension.

An “F” essay does not fulfill the requirements of the assignment.

Other assignments and quizzes graded in points are converted from your % earned of points possible to a traditional A-F four-point scale.

A word about how I approach grading: I start looking at every composition by asking if it satisfies the requirements of the assignment. If it does, it will earn a satisfactory grade: C. If the composition does more than simply satisfy the requirements, then the grade can move up to a B. An A essay will be fully engaged with the prompt, organized, and thoughtful. However, if the essay does not satisfy the requirements, then the grade moves down to D or F. I will complete a scoring rubric with each graded essay.

Grade Calculations

Assignment	Word Count	% of Course Grade
In-Class(IC) Essays	400-800 ea.	20%
Out of Class (OC) Essays-4	3200+ total	50%
Participation	(see below)	10%
Journal (see below)	2000+	10%
Final Reflective Analysis	1000-1200	10%

- Journal: The handwritten journal is graded on % of total points accrued. Homework and in-class self-assessment, reading responses, and/or directed exercises involving prewriting, organizing, analysis, and revision will comprise part of each day.

- Participation: Participation=actively engaging in class discussion, asking questions, and completing work so that you can contribute to the class. Here is one way to evaluate your own participation in class:
 A –fully engaged; provide regular and helpful questions and comments based on course content and your own ideas
 B –active listening; you ask occasional, pertinent questions and comments
 C –attentiveness questionable, little questions or comments posed
 D –unprepared for class, disengaged
 F –regularly absent, both physically and mentally. Sleeping.

Participation will be graded on % of total points accrued including:

- Workshops (GELO #4-5) are an important component of the writing process and your final essay grade. You will bring 5 copies(or as instructed) to class on the workshop date in order to participate. You will turn in critiqued copies with final essay as instructed: SAVE them. *If you miss a workshop, your essay will be graded down. I have zero-tolerance for late arrival on workshop days: You Will Be Asked to Leave. (20pts each)
- Reading: (CLO #1,5) (GELO #1,4) English 1A is a reading-based course. You will have reading assignments to complete for almost every class period, and each reading will be accompanied by some form of writing. In addition, all or most of the assigned essays will be related to readings. It is therefore imperative that you complete the readings prior to each class and come with your book and Journal Responses prepared to discuss them in class. Occasionally, there may be reading quizzes. All readings in this course address diversity and contribute to effective writing strategies. ALWAYS bring your text to class.
- Outside supportive assignments including worksheets (various pts each)
- Multimodal Presentation: (CLO# 4). Each student will give an multi-modal presentation to the class on the day assigned for the University Final. (50pts)
- Quizzes: (GELO# 1,3,5) Occasional quizzes will be based on current writing and/or reading discussions. Quizzes must be taken in class and cannot be made up. Unannounced quizzes may be given at my discretion. (10-20pts each)
- Individual Conference One mid-term conference with me by appointment is mandatory for each student. (GELO# 1-5) Time tbd. (20pts)

Your Responsibility If You're Absent. If you miss class, contact a classmate to get notes, assignments, etc. It is your responsibility to figure out what's going on and to show up prepared the next class session. Please do not ask me to do extra things for you if you choose not to come to class.

Always bring your Journal and required Texts to class. These are required for participation. If you're not prepared to contribute to the class, be prepared to be asked to leave for the day.

Homework format: (this includes all Essays, and any work unless otherwise noted)

- * All work must be typed, double spaced
