Score Analysis Feedback Analysis

The Criterion score reflects the overall quality of the writing. It is a single numerical score given to the essay as a whole. Scores range from 1 to 6 or 1 to 4, with 1 being the lowest score. The Criterion score is aligned to each grade/level based on models built from essays previously scored by human readers. The Criterion score should never be equated with a grade or mark which takes into account everything about the essay, including content.

Trait feedback is provided in five key categories: Organization & Development, Grammar, Usage, Mechanics, and Style. The feedback is used to guide the process of revision. The graphic summary of error types shows the number of errors for each type. The roll-over message gives a brief description of the error and guidance for its correction. The context-sensitive section of the Writer's Handbook pertains to the error and provides a more complete "lesson" on the error and its correction.

Criterion can provide feedback on many grammatical and sentence structure errors, but not all of them. Use this section to help you correct errors. Check with your instructor if you do not understand how to revise the errors that are highlighted. Some grammar errors are caused by misspelling or mistakes in typing. When Criterion identifies a typing or spelling error that might be causing a grammar error, the feedback message will let you know. The feedback in Proofread This! points out errors that are difficult to name or classify. Often these errors occur when a word is missing, an extra word is added, or the wrong form of the word is used.

Organization & Development

Some people have a charisma or a strength of character that encourages others to follow them. They display confidence, compassion, and can work cooperatively with others. In its brief history our country has had a number of great leaders. Among them, Abraham Lincoln stands out as a man of integrity, a man of action, a man of the people.

One of Lincoln's important personality traits was his ability to listen actively to other people. Not only did he seek the ideas of his fellow politicians, but he made time to listen to the common people both in person and through thoughtfully reading and responding to their letters. History books are filled with letters he received during his time in office and with his thoughtful responses. He was known as a quiet man who would listen with interest to what others had to say and weigh their ideas carefully in making decisions.

The ability to lead by example was another of Lincoln's outstanding leadership traits. He watched his own son march off to battle in the Civil War though it would have been in his power to spare his son from the war. He was a savvy politician who understood that compromise would be necessary to achieve the nations goals and to bind the nation's wounds. Lincoln is remembered as a father figure, who pulled his small son to his lap, and took time to talk with him, play with him, and guide him. He also bore a parent's grief in the loss of a child with great dignity. Sharing the common experiences of the masses made others feel that he was "one of them." He withstood great sadness, great loss, and great challenge with strength, and dignity.

Lincoln was a man of action. As president during the Civil War, he was presented with extremely difficult choices that would affect the history of our country. As a politician, he issued the highly unpopular Emancipation Proclamation, knowing that it might lead to the secession of the South. As commander-in-chief he was responsible for calls that resulted in the loss of lives for both the North and the South in the bloodiest and most costly war in our history. When the war ended, he took action to bind the nation's wounds by allowing Southern soldiers to return to their homes and proposing plans to rebuild the country. He wore the yoke of responsibility for the fate of our country.

The screenshot shows the ETS Criterion interface for a student named Barbara Story. The page is for an English 9 assignment titled 'Peer Review: Lula Stumm' with a focus on 'Leadership'. The assignment prompt asks the student to write an essay about a leader. Below the prompt, there is a 'Comments' section with an 'Add Comment' button highlighted by a red arrow. The text in the comment box reads: 'Leadership requires many different things. Most people do not show all of leaderships qualities. If any of them. Yet most of us know one person who has all the qualities of a good leader. My sister is one such person. Here are the qualities that a good leader must show, and that she shows. To be a good leader, you must be able to handle criticism in a mature, respectful manner. Once when my sister was ridiculed by some of her peers she simply walked away, telling herself that some day they would grow out of such childish behavior. She handled it in a mature manner by understanding her peer's and not letting their ridicule defeat her. Also a good leader will pursue their dreams without backing down. Leadership

Response

Leadership

A leader is defined as a person who directs, commands or guides a group or activity. Think about someone you know who has proven to be a great leader, either in leading a country or in a business, and describe the qualities that this leader has exhibited which would lead others to respect, admire and follow them.

Leadership requires many different things. Most people do not show all of leaderships qualities. If any of them. Yet most of us know one person who has all the qualities of a good leader. My sister is one such person. Here are the qualities that a good leader must show, and how she shows them. To be a good leader, you must be able to handle criticism in a mature, respectful manner.

Once when my sister was ridiculed by some of her peers she simply walked away, telling herself that some day they would grow out of such childish behavior. She handled it in a mature manner by understanding her peer's and not letting their ridicule defeat her.

Also a good leader will pursue their dreams without backing down. When my sister was taking a dance class, she could not seem to get a certain step, and even though she became very frustrated over this, she kept on trying, until eventually she succeeded. She showed courage to go on, and a strong will to keep going til the very end, even with the frustration, not to mention the physical and emotional strain. She kept pushing to the very end, ever so determined to accomplish her goal.

The last quality a leader must possess is selflessness. A leader must be able to make good decisions regarding the welfare of those around them, and when necessary, themselves. When making a good decisions, they have to put others before themselves. When my sister wanted to go out with her friends while our mom was sick in bed, she would stay home and take care of the house as well as me and our mother. She thought of our mothers welfare before her own enjoyment, even if it was a hard thing to do.

She is obviously a good leader, showing all the qualities that a person must obtain in order to become a strong leader. True leadership is a rare trait that few people possess, but many desire to obtain. Anna is a living example that true leaders can come from the most unexpected places, no matter what age, rank, or gender you are.

The screenshot displays the ETS Criterion user interface. At the top right, there are navigation links for HOME, CLIENT SERVICES, RESOURCES, and HELP. Below these, the user's name 'Nala Strohl' and roles 'Student' and 'Sign Out' are visible. The main content area is for 'English 9' and includes a class selection dropdown set to 'English 9, CWET-Strohl, Jan, Strohl District, Strohl Sch*' with a 'Go' button. A red arrow points to the 'Activity' tab, with the text 'Click the Activity tab.' next to it. Below the tabs, a message states: 'Most recent class activity is listed below. Select options to sort class activity by student, assignment, and activity period. Select activity to view student work. Select reviewer to view comments or discussion.' A 'Print' button is on the right. There are two links: 'View Comments' and 'View Dialogue'. A table lists class activity with columns for 'Assignment', 'Activity', and 'Reviewer'. The table contains three rows: 'Leadership' with 'Attempt 2 - Jun 28, 2013 11:30:09 AM CDT', 'Attempt 1 - Jun 28, 2013 10:45:55 AM CDT', and 'Outline - Jun 28, 2013 10:10:05 AM CDT'. A red arrow points to the 'Attempt 1' row, with the text 'View all submitted plans and attempts.' next to it. At the bottom left, there is a footer with legal and privacy information. At the bottom right, there is the ETS logo and the tagline 'Listening. Learning. Leading.*'.
