This basic 16-unit certificate in Translation and Interpretation (T&I) is offered by the Department of World Languages. The certificate responds to the projected 20% growth in the jobs for interpreters and translators from 2021 to 2031, much faster than the average for all occupations.

The certificate offers undergraduates a general overview and understanding of the T&I profession. You will gain the theoretical and practical training to face the challenges and obstacles that you may encounter during the T&I process. Obtaining this basic certificate will provide you with an official and academic document that certifies your T&I competence.
